When you become a Lean Kanban University Accredited Kanban Trainer, you are authorized to deliver top quality LKU certified Kanban training in a classroom setting.

Set up your own classes or let LKU match you with Training Organizations worldwide.

The Lean Kanban University website lists AKTs by the regions where they offer training.

The AKT's affiliated training organization name and logo can be visible on the certificate, training materials, and training class page if the organization signs up for a Training Organization License.

Separate annual flat fee applies to the Training Organization License.

Teach LKU Certified Kanban Classes

Accredited Kanban Trainers (AKTs) provide Lean Kanban University Certified Kanban training classes using the Lean Kanban curriculum training materials.

AKTs are trainers who have completed the LKU Train the Trainer course with case study requirement and application review.

Each AKT is required to teach a minimum number of certified Kanban training students per year.

There is a minimum requirement in student fees each year, per trainer, that is paid to LKU as the classes are taught throughout the year. This corresponds to about 25 students in a public 2-day class, per year.

Trainers can build the student fee into the registration price for the class. If the trainer does not do enough LKU Certified Kanban Training to meet the minimum annual obligation of student fees, they will be billed at the end of the year for any balance due to meet the minimum fee obligation.

Become a Licensed Training Organization

Can my organization offer LKU certified Kanban training classes – even if we don't have any LKU Accredited Kanban Trainers on staff?

Yes! Your organization can offer LKU certified Kanban classes with a Training Organization License.

- LKU can match you with Accredited Kanban Trainers worldwide who can teach the classes.
- Lean Kanban training materials used in classes feature your organizations' name and logo
- Hold the classes in your workplace or other training venue of your choice.
- Promote classes featuring the LKU certified seal on your website or newsletter
- All LKU certified Kanban training classes you offer will be promoted on the LKU website
- All class attendees get a certificate from LKU featuring your organization's name and logo

What is the total cost for my company to offer LKU certified Kanban training classes?

The Training Organization License is USD $2500 per year*. This is a flat fee regardless of how many LKU Accredited Kanban Trainers (AKT) offer training on behalf of your organization.

The payment to the LKU Accredited Kanban Trainer who teaches the class is negotiated separately between your organization and the AKT; typically a revenue share on the class or a day rate for training.

How can I associate an LKU Certified Kanban Training class with my organization's product or service?

The LKU Foundations kanban class is normally a 2-day class. Some organizations offer this as a 3-day class with the first or third day focused on how kanban works with a particular software tool or change method or other specialization. Examples: Kanban with Microsoft TFS; Kanban for Change Management; Kanban for IT/Operations; Kanban with Scrum. As long as 2 of the 3 days follow the authorized curriculum, the class will be LKU Certified.

Can I have LKU Accredited Kanban Trainers dedicated to working with my organization?

Your organization may choose to sponsor an employee or consultant to work as an AKT. Each trainer has to meet an annual minimum requirement of student fees. Sponsoring means that you will pay the trainer's pre-paid student fees, plus pay any balance due on the trainer's student fee minimum obligation if the trainer does not teach enough students in a year.

If an AKT only offers training within your own organization, they may qualify for an Internal AKT plan which has separate terms.

Can my organization offer private kanban classes to clients?

Yes! You can offer LKU certified Kanban training classes publicly or privately. This is a nice addition to your services portfolio.
